

join us for the launch of the latest book in the acclaimed Played in Britain series

Played in Glasgow

charting the heritage of a city at play

Friday March 12 6.00 – 7.00 pm

at The Mitchell Library, North Street, Glasgow G3 7DN where author Ged O'Brien and series editor Simon Inglis will be talking about their findings after three years of research into the fascinating and often hidden sporting heritage of Glasgow – the grounds and greens, stadiums and grandstands, pavilions and ponds, the arcane arts of Glasgow's 'doo' men and much else besides... this event is part of the Aye Write! Book Festival – tickets £7 (£6 concessions) via www.ayewrite.com or from the Mitchell Library

Played in Glasgow is a 228 page, lavishly illustrated paperback, rrp £14.99. Signed copies will be on sale after the presentation. For more info on the series see www.playedinbritain.co.uk

Culture & Sport GLASGOW

